"At Peach State Health Plan and Wellcare of Georgia, we remain committed to expanding access to quality healthcare for all Georgians, including our aging populations," said Clyde White, President and CEO of Peach State Health Plan. "The expansion of Medicare Advantage offerings are designed to meet the evolving needs of our members by delivering practical support, simplifying access to care and addressing challenges that impact overall well-being."

The company's multi-year journey to maximize Centene's unique market position focuses on creating a seamless integrated experience for D-SNP members, caregivers, and their providers. Medicare provides coverage primarily based on a member being 65 and older or eligible through disability, while Medicaid typically offers coverage to individuals and families who meet specific income and financial eligibility requirements. Members eligible for both programs are referred to as "Dual Eligibles" or "Duals."

"We are deeply committed to offering a diverse range of plans that support our members' health and well-being," said Wellcare Chief Executive Officer, Michael Carson. "We're especially excited about the continued growth and integration of our dual-eligible plans, in collaboration with our federal and state partners, which help us better serve individuals who are eligible for both Medicare and Medicaid. Supporting the health of our aging population isn't just a priority – it's a responsibility. These offerings reflect our dedication to delivering quality care, improving health outcomes and creating a seamless experience for some of the most vulnerable populations in our communities."

The company also continues to invest in member experience with digital tools and resources for members and prospective members. This includes:

- Delivering a modernized, supportive and engaging onboarding experience to new and renewing members.
- Providing member onboarding videos in eight languages: Spanish, Vietnamese, Russian, Tagalog, Chinese Traditional, Chinese Taiwan, Chinese Hong Kong and Korean.
- Proactively engaging and communicating with members on understanding their benefits and access to services and providers.

- Conducting frequent member surveys to better understand what matters most to them and where we can improve to make their experience better.
